CDR Kristen Haslam

Member at-large

Nurse Category

CDR Kristen Haslam graduated from Andrews University with a Bachelor of Science in Nursing in 2004 and earned her Master of Science in Health Psychology from North Central University in 2020. CDR Haslam was commissioned in the United States Public Health Service (USPHS) in December 2007, serving at Federal Occupational Health in Bethesda, MD. Since 2013, CDR Haslam has been serving at the U.S. Food and Drug Association (FDA). She initially worked as a Senior Regulatory Project Manager (RPM) in the Division of Nonprescription Drugs where she was selected to manage the Sunscreen Innovation Act (SIA) ensuring the Agency met all Congressionally mandated deliverables. In 2019, CDR Haslam transferred to the Division of Neurology where she has since been serving as an RPM on the Multiple Sclerosis team. In addition to her Agency duties, CDR Haslam has served in numerous leadership roles and participated in a variety of committees across organizations including the Nurse Professional Advisory Committee, Junior Officer Advisory Committee, and the FDA Commissioned Officers Network. During her free time, CDR Haslam enjoys spending time with her family (husband, 5 kids, and 4 dogs), reading, and engaging in outdoor activities.
