LT Nam To
Treasurer/Finance Committee Liaison

LT Nam To is a Policy Analyst for Premarket Application (PMA), Humanitarian Devices (HDEs) and Pre-Submission Programs in Center for Devices and Radiological Health (CDRH) the Food and Drug Administration (FDA). He is tasked with delivering regulatory advice to external stakeholders, IT contractors, and CDRH reviewers to ensure consistency in policies and practices in CDRH premarket reviews. In addition, he leads projects to craft new policies or iteratively improve existing policies to better serve US public health interests. LT To collaborates in Cross-Center, multidisciplinary working groups, leveraging his CDRH experience to develop policies for comprehensive review of combination medical products (e.g., drug and device, biologic and device). LT To received a Bachelors in Bioengineering (2011) degree from the University of Maryland, College Park and a Masters in Applied Math and Statistics (2017) degree from Georgetown University. He also holds certifications from the Regulatory Affairs Professional Society (US RAC, 2015) and American Society for Quality (CQIA, 2016). Since joining FDA, he has worked extensively in ophthalmic diagnostic and surgical products (2012-2015) and respiratory products (2011-2012, 2015-2020). LT To previously served as DC COA Finance Chair (2018-2020). He has also participated in multiple deployments to support USPHS mission: Unaccompanied Children (2018, 2021) and COVID-19 (2020-2021).
