LCDR Lindsay Hatch graduated from the University of Florida (Go Gators!) with a Bachelor of Science in Food Science and Human Nutrition with a specialization in Human Nutrition. She earned her Master of Public Health with a concentration in Environmental Health from the University of Florida as well. She is also Certified in Public Health by the National Board of Public Health Examiners. LCDR Hatch was commissioned with the USPHS in September 2009, serving at the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) in Florida. In 2014, she relocated to Rockville, MD to continue her work with FDA as a Work Planner for the foreign medical device program. In her current position, she is responsible for planning and coordinating all FDA medical device inspections conducted at foreign firms that are manufacturing and shipping their medical devices to the U.S. Throughout her time in the USPHS, she has served in numerous leadership roles with various organizations, including the Chair, Vice Chair, and Executive Secretary of the Junior Officer Advisory Committee (2014-2019). She is currently a Voting Member in HSPAC, PHPAG, and is the Chair of the Communications Subgroup. In her free time, LCDR Hatch enjoys spending time with her family (husband, three children, and puppy).
